MEMORIES AND TRADITIONS

The holidays bring to mind our sense of connection with family, with neighbors—with everyone. We trade smiles on hearing someone humming a Christmas carol. We pause in silence to look at homes lit with strand after strand of twinkling lights.

We see a plate of frosted tree-shaped cookies and we can almost taste them. It's a magical time that inspires us to let our best selves show through.

FAMILY — AND — FRIENDS

Anytime we get together, it doesn't take long for us to settle in and start sharing our stories. We talk about life back in the day, big events we experienced this year, even silly moments from just this morning. Every year, we get more chances to make new stories with the people most important to us—and we just might end up sharing those stories for years to come.

CHARACTERS —AND— INTERESTS

At a time of year when our focus turns to others, it's still okay to sneak in something fun for ourselves. We gather everyone together to watch the holiday specials that make us feel like a kid again. Or show off the blockbusters that got us excited this year. We let our trees celebrate what we loved then and now, because it's all part of who we are.
