Prepare for epic magic

INTRODUCING STAR WARS™ STORYTELLERS

EXPERIENCE EXCITING and innovative technology with this unique collection of seven Star Wars ornaments. Beginning with three ships this year followed by two each in 2018 and 2019, the ornaments interact to tell the story of Star Wars™: A New Hope™ by performing five major moments with actual dialogue and sound effects from the movie, all with a corresponding light show.

Just push a button on any Star Wars Collection ornament and it will send out a signal to determine what other ornaments are nearby. Then sit back and enjoy.

The team put together 127 versions of possible stories that can be experienced based on which ornaments you have. With all seven ornaments together, you'll get a 9-minute performance.

"The star of the show," says Product Developer Kurt Gaulke, "is the way these ships are brought to life via light and sound. Each ship has a great performance of instantly recognizable audio all to itself, but the real magic happens when you introduce another ship and it opens a door to additional audio that tells an even larger part of the classic scenes from the original film. The way these different ships recognize and play off one another is something I've never seen before. Your entire tree is now the film itself...it's very cool!"

KRIS'S PENGUINS JAZZ IT UP

KRIS GAUGHRAN'S PENGUINS have, as she says, been here, there and everywhere in their run as an unofficial series since 2001. This year, they're showing off their musical skills with our new Storytellers technology. The technology allows each ornament to give you a fun show on its own, but when other Merry Music Makers ornaments are in the vicinity, you'll get an amazing music and light show as they interact.

Because the penguins are always in a frozen setting, Kris decided on carved, frosted ice instruments for her little characters to play.

CUCKOO FOR CLOCKS

KEN CROW is really excited about having created Santa's Christmas Clock, and rightfully so: "This clock does everything! It tells time, Santa comes out and rings a bell on the hour, and then the toys come out and they spin as it lights up and plays music. It even has a remote control!"

D. Santa's Christmas Clock | $119.95 USA Functioning clock powered by Hallmark's universal adapter (included) or batteries. Plays a holiday tune and greeting from Santa on every daytime hour. A CHRISTMAS HAPPY-MAKER

WHEN KEN CROW sets out to make something, his goal is to give you a good memory. This little happy-maker will do just that.

"It's all about storytelling," Ken explains. "While the horse and sleigh are in front going up and down, this island of buildings turns behind them with lots of little stories going on. There's Santa, kids, a little dog and even a lady in the last building who comes out with cookies for the carolers. And while all that's going on, it plays music and lights up. There's so much magic going on!"

Ken tries whenever possible to add personal touches to his ornaments: "The two kids in front decorating the tree are my son and daughter. Linda, my wife, is the lady giving out cookies. And I'm the little boy with the dog. That's my dog, Charlie. I think about it like, if this is a play, who are my actors?"

As for how all of it works, Ken smiles and says, "I'm trying to keep a little bit of the magic secret so people say, wow, how did he do that?"

ELEGANT ICONS

RUTH DONIKOWSKI designed 12 Christmas icons before deciding on these five traditional symbols. She collaborated with artisans in Poland, who handcrafted the ornaments in blown glass.

“I love the combination of metal and glass. It gives our time-honored icons an elegant, modern look.”

TOM'S BEER STEINS GROW UP

TOM BEST started his unofficial series of beer stein ornaments in 2012. This year's ornament shows an elf presenting Santa with a well-earned beer after he's finished his Christmas Eve rounds.

What's even more exciting, though, is that Tom has crafted a full-sized, food-safe beer stein this year.

“It's all about storytelling and craftsmanship,” Tom says of the full-sized stein. “On this stein, we're telling a story about the elves on the last working day before Christmas. They're celebrating with food, music, dancing and more. Toys and tools surround the base.”

Tom is especially jazzed about the full-sized stein because it's being produced by experts with an old, established German company, KING-WERK Wuerfel + Mueller, in Hoehr-Grenzhausen, Germany.

A MOUSE'S TALE

TAMMY HADDIX loves crafting miniature ornaments, but it can get tricky.

"Minis are so much fun to create but sometimes very hard to hold on to while sculpting and painting.

"The story of the night before Christmas is told through the activities of this cute little mouse in a sweater. He's the only one awake getting ready for Santa to arrive."

SEASON'S TREATINGS BRANCHES OUT

INSPIRED BY HER popular series, Sharon Visker created this sweet Season's Treatings tree set complete with 12 miniature ornaments.

"It's got a bright, sparkly feel for the holidays, and with 16 branches, there's still plenty of room for you to add more of your favorite miniature ornaments," Sharon says.

Six of the ornaments Sharon created are original, with three of those based on designs from the series. An angel cookie serves as the tree topper, and as a finishing touch, the molded tree skirt shows off even more treats.

"I drew this idea up years ago, and I'm happy I finally got to move forward with it," she says. "It would make a great little tree for the kitchen."

And it's sure to put even more mmm-mmm-merry in your Christmas.

VINTAGE INSPIRATION

EDYTHE KEGRIZE vividly remembers her vintage inspiration for this Jolly Santa ornament.

"Back when I was in grade school, I saved and saved my pennies so I could buy my mother a Christmas gift. It was a candle with a similar cone shape, and it was Santa's head and tall hat. I was so proud to give it to her," she says. "Mom's no longer with us, but she kept that candle and it still exists."

Just like this cone shape and the bird designs for which she's so well known, Edythe likes to work with simple forms and add intricate surface design work.

"To make this ornament really fancy, I added an ornate little pattern on Santa's hat and around his coat that's made of rainbow reflective foil. He's got a lot of pizzazz, and he's kind of a dressy little fella."

That's just the kind of fella we're betting would make Edythe's mom proud all over again.

CHRISTMAS AT KEEPSAKE KORNER'S

THIS YEAR'S Keepsake Korner's set, created by Don Palmiter, is inspired by the Nostalgic Houses and Shops series he's been designing since 1995.

"I love architecture and I love detail.

That's one of the reasons I've always loved this series."

Look inside the display windows of the Keepsake Korner's buildings, and you'll find that Don has added some very special details.

"In each window, we've highlighted an ornament from a different Keepsake Ornament series.

I went to great lengths to make those tiny little miniature ornaments in the display windows. I sculpted them as close as I could to the original ornaments."

Each building can also be lit from the inside.

"I designed it to be a little block.

Tannenbaum's goes on one side and Hall Bro's goes on the other because they have corner entrances," Don explains.

"They're a nice complement to the Nostalgic Houses and Shops series, and they'll look great displayed together!"

A MICKEY MOUSE LIGHT SHOW

ROBERT HURLBURT always has fun working on Disney products.

"I blended my concept with something Ken Crow had done, so I want to pay homage to Ken. This tree topper has a wonderful light show. The center section turns and has little Mickey-shaped silhouette openings that project lights that are constantly changing colors onto the ceiling. Then there are colors that shoot up the tower that interact and play.

"With so many iterations of lights, sounds and music, it's like watching an unbelievable light show on top of the tree. Plus, Ruth Donikowski created this great tree skirt with the same characters and sleigh. They're just wonderful together."

Oh, What Fun! Tree Topper and Tree Skirt coordinate for an amazing light and sound show.

“Growing up, the best part of Christmas wasn’t about the gifts, it was about spending time with family. The magic happens after the gifts are open. Drinking hot cocoa, playing games, talking, laughing, reminiscing—that’s what Christmas is all about. The gift of family is priceless.”
